

On behalf of the more than 28,000 men and women Professionals of The PGA of America, welcome to another special year in golf.

The 2009 PGA of America Media Guide, the most comprehensive reference tool of its kind in the industry, is your resource for facts, figures and profiles of many of The PGA's most intriguing performers.

We invite you to join us this year, as we celebrate The PGA of America's premier spectator events. We begin with the 70th Senior PGA Championship, the most prestigious event in senior golf, which visits Canterbury Golf Club in Beachwood, Ohio, for the first time.

The 42nd PGA Professional National Championship, the showcase event for PGA Professionals, follows in late June by returning to scenic Twin Warriors Golf Club and Santa Ana Golf Club in Santa Ana Pueblo, N.M.

From the Southwest, the low 20 scorers will join the strongest field in golf in August for the season's final major, the 91st PGA Championship at Hazeltine National Golf Club in Chaska, Minn.

In September, our finest playing PGA Professionals will defend the Llandudno International Trophy against a team of their counterparts from Great Britain & Ireland in the 24th PGA Cup, marking its first appearance at The Carrick at the De Vere Deluxe Resort in Loch Lomond, Scotland.

The 27th PGA Grand Slam of Golf, with the most difficult entry requirement in the game, returns to the island of Bermuda and for the first time at Port Royal Golf Club, to challenge a foursome of the year's major champions.

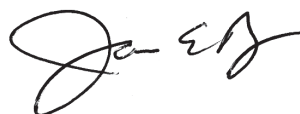

We conclude our national championship schedule in the fall with "majors" for our member professionals each hosted at PGA Golf Club in Port St. Lucie, Fla. – the 21st Senior PGA Professional National Championship and the 33rd Callaway Golf PGA Assistant Championship.

The third McGladrey Team Championship, The PGA's nationwide grass roots best-ball amateur championship, returns to Pinehurst (N.C.) Resort in October and brings together PGA Professionals and amateur partners to play one of the game's premier venues.

The PGA of America thanks you for your coverage of our Association and in recognizing the multi-faceted commitment of PGA Professionals.

We look forward to working with you this year and, as always, our PGA Communications Department is there to assist you in any way possible.

Best Wishes!

Jim Remy, PGA
